FIRST DISTRICT COURT

The Trial of the Tintie Lynchers Begin.Yesterday, in the First District Court at Provo, the prosecution opened the case of the Tintie lynchers.

Mr. Hiles said they expected to prove that on July 6th, of last year, a man aged 35, named Joseph Fisher, was arrested, was wounded and had an abra-sion over the left eye; he was then taken to the jail. At the time of the arrest quite a crowd followed them; among them were Daniel Shields, Regan and others, who followed the officer to the jail and made many threats that they would hang Fisher, and during all the afternoon there were many preparations to that end. It will appear that Daniel J. Harrington went to a store and bought a rope, and that same rope was used in strangling Fisher to death; that the officer in the afternoon received notice of what should be done with the defendant; Father was present when the jail was opened and Fisher taken out; he saw the officer in violation of his duty and in concert with the others. He shall claim here that while he was not acting as openly as some others, he was equally culpable; that he said "If you are going to kill that man, don't do it like a dog." About dark a large crowd assembled at the jail. Several men stood there to protect the jail, but unarmed, placed there by Mr. Standing and the armed crowd that came on ordered them to leave; a demand was made upon Mr. Standing for the key of the jail; he expostulated with them, and then the justice of the peace commanded them in the name of the law to disperse, and in view of all this they persisted until they murdered Fisher; the officer was threatened with instant death if he did not give up the keys, and in fear of death he gave them up; the crowd then rushed for the door of the jail, and when the door was thrown open, the first man to enter was Daniel Shields, who received the keys from Standing. They struggled until they got the rope around Fisher's neck, who had now retreated to the wall, that Pat Harrington struck him with a club and he sank to the floor; they then took the defendant and dragged him over a quarter of a mile on his back to the "whip," where he was hung; when they got there he was dead, but one said, "we will hang him anyhow," and up he went. Each man then swore fidelity and kissed a book.
The first witness called was George C.
Foleman.

PROVO POINTS.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN drew a crowded house at the theatre last night, and good satisfaction is expressed of offering any criticisms on the performance, we have concluded to send the company to Salt Lake, so the people there can judge for themselves.

The deputies made a raid in the Fourth Ward this morning and arrested J. T. Arrowsmith on a charge of cohabitation and Hubert Singleton on a complaint for polygamy, which will hardly be substantiated. Members of the families of each were subpoenaed.

On Tuesday afternoon, while Judge Henderson and Judge Dusenberry were conversing after the adjournment of court, the latter suggested that the jury impaneled in the Tintie lynching case should be allowed to attend the theatre and when he went to the theatre in the evening he had the pleasure of seeing the twelve men in charge of the lynching occupying a front row of seats. Judge Henderson sent the juryman to the theatre on Dusenberry's account and had the bill $6.00 presented to the Probate judge for payment.

NATHAN BIRNBAUM was the recipient of a surprise party this morning, which he will not soon forget, and which had the effect to create a temporary panic in the Bibbins household.
Although Mr. Bibbins claims to be a non-Mormon and an anti-polygamist, he has declined several invitations to join the Loyal League, and has earnestly endeavored to live at peace with all his neighbors, regardless of their belief or previous condition of cohabitation. At about 10 o'clock this morning, while with his wife and seven small children all wrapped in the arms of Morpheus, the gentleman and his entire family were rudely awakened by a platoon of deputy marshals, under the command of Vandercock. Hearing a noise outside, Mr.
Bibbins jumped out of bed, and upon looking out of a window he saw that his house was surrounded by an armed mob, and before he could cross himself, preparatory to receiving company, Deputy Vandercock rudely burst in at the door and exclaimed, very coolly: "Hello, Singleton, is that you?" The deputy then informed Mr. Bibbins that he was arrested for polygamy and that it would be useless for him to make any attempt to escape, as the house was surrounded by deputy marshals, and were not afraid to shoot off their mouths. Then Mrs. Bibbins began to realize the situation, although pretending she did not believe her husband guilty.
Neither of the deputies knew either Mr. Bibbins or Mr. Singleton, who, it seems, was the man they were after; but Mr. Singleton had previously occupied the house Bibbins lived in;
hence the mistake.

Wretched, Indeed,

Are those whom a confirmed tendency to biliousness, subject to the various and changeable symptoms indicative of liver complaint. Nausea, sick headache, constipation, hurried tongue, an unpleasant breath, a dull or sharp pain in the neighborhood of the affected organ, impurity of the blood and loss of appetite, signalize it as one of the most distressing, as it is one of the most common, of maladies. There is however, a benign specific for the disease and all its unpleasant manifestations.
It is the concurrent testimony of the public and the medical profession, that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a medicine which achieves results speedily felt, thorough and benign. Besides re-curing the liver disorder, it invigorates the feeble, conquers kidney and bladder complaint, and hastens the convalescence of those recovering from enfeebling diseases. Moreover, it is the grand specific for fever and ague.

WILL YOU SUFFER WITH Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint? Hostetter's Vitalizer is guaranteed to cure you.

FORT DU CHESNE.

News, Notes and Personals from the Military Post in Utah.

A fire at Fort Du Chesne, recently, destroyed one of the new buildings. It was intended to be the adjutant's office, and contained four rooms. It was occupied as quarters at the time, by Captain Jocelyn, Lieutenants Waitch, Traut and Syer, of the Twenty first infantry, who, happening to be absent, suffered the loss of all their effects. It is the greater hardship on account of the scarcity of quarters at a post which is only recently sprung into existence, two huts were burned up in the building.

Lieutenant Truitt has been granted a month's leave of absence, of which he expects to avail himself next month.
Major Benton has been ordered to Salt Lake to await the result of his trial. He is accompanied by his wife and one Miss Violet Norman.

The officers at the post are Colonel Edward Hatch, commanding; Captains Byron Lawson and J. A. Olmsted, Lieutenants George R. Burnett, George F. Ladd and H. G. Trout, of the Ninth Cavalry; Captain S. P.
Trotter, Lieutenants J. W. Duncan, William Wittich, Harry L. Bailey, C. M.
Fruitt, L. J. Hearn, H. D. Syer, E.
W. McKaskey, of the Twenty-first infantry and Dr. R. B. Benham, surgeon.

Lieutenant Duncan will change station to Fort Sidney soon to relieve Lieutenant Daniel Corman, who is relieved of his duties as adjutant under the recent orders of the War Department. Building these details to four years.

Captain William F. Spurgin is on duty at West Point, where he has been since 1881.

Captain Downey and Haughey, whose companies are here, were unable to march in with the command and are on light duty at Fort Sidney, Nebraska.
They are expected to join in the spring.

WHAT IS AN INSTINCT?

The Conundrum Answered by Prof.
William James.

Instinct is usually defined as the faculty of acting in such a way as to produce certain ends, without foresight of the ends, and without previous education in the performance. That instincts, as thus defined, exists on an enormous scale in the animal kingdom needs no proof. They are the functional correlatives of structure. With the presence of a certain organ goes, one may say, almost always a native aptitude for its use.

A very common way of talking about these admirably definite tendencies to act is by naming abstractly the purpose they subserve, such as self-preservation, or defense, or care for eggs and young, and saying the animal has an instinctive fear of death and love of life, or that she has an instinct of self-preservation or an instinct of maternity and the like. But this represents the animal as obeying abstractions which, not once in a million cases, is it possible it can have framed. The strict physiological way of interpreting the facts leads to far clearer results. The actions we call instinctive, all conform to the general reflex type; they are called forth by determinate sensory stimuli in contact with the animal's body, or at a distance in his environment. The cat runs after the mouse, runs or shows fight before the dog, avoids falling from walls and trees, shuns fire and water, etc., not because he has any notion either of life or of death, or of self, or of preservation. He has probably attained to no one of these conceptions in such a way as to react definitely upon it. He acts in each case separately, and simply because he cannot help it; being so framed that when that particular running thing called a mouse appears in his field of vision he must pursue; that when that particular barking and obstreperous thing called a dog appears there, he must retire, if at a distance, and scratch or close by; that he must withdraw his feet from water and his face from flame, etc. His nervous system is to a great extent a preorganized bundle of such reactions—they are instinctual, and as exactly correlated to their special excitants as it is to its own. Although the naturalist may, for his own convenience, class these reactions under general heads, he must not forget that in the animal it is a particular sensation or perception or image which calls them forth.—Prof.
William James, in Scribner's Magazine for March.

Astonishing Success.

It is the duty of every person who has used Bonck's German Syrup to let its wonderful qualities be known to their friends in curing Consumption, severe Coughs, Croup, Asthma, Pneumonia, and in fact, all throat and lung diseases. No person can use it without immediate relief. Three doses will relieve any case, and we consider it the duty of all Druggists to recommend it to the poor, dying consumptive, at least to try one bottle, as 80,000 dozen bottles were sold last year, and no one case where it failed was reported. Such a medicine as the German Syrup cannot be too widely known. Ask your druggist about it. Sample bottles to try, sold at 10 cents. Regular size, 75 cents. Sold by all Druggists and Dealers, in the United States and Canada.

Reliable and Always the Same.

BRANDER'S PILLS are the oldest, safest, and best blood purifier and purgative known. They are purely vegetable, therefore harmless. They are always the same and always produce the same effect. Other purgatives require increased doses and finally cease acting altogether. A course of one or two of BRANDER'S PILLS taken each night is a positive cure for constipation, headache, and all bilious disorders. If you can't take them plain get them sugar-coated.
